Mr. Carr,

You are totally out of your mind. Your email is a clear case of extortion and false accusations.

I have nothing to do with you. However, your email clearly shows that you are involved in "legalized child kidnapping", concealment of an illegal immigrant German child and conspiracy in Harboring 2 illegal immigrant, conspiracy in immigration and marriage fraud.

The Utah Bar association will receive now an official complaint about your activities and threats.

Thank you for your email.

My SEO guy tells me you are submitting a bunch of fake reviews. I have kids of my own. I couldn't imagine being away from them. I have no hard feelings toward you for doing what you are doing because I am guessing I would do the same. I sincerely mean that.

That said, I will make you an offer. Option 1, you stop the fake reviews and I will withdraw as counsel on this matter. Option 2, keep doing what you're doing. My SEO guy says Google removes the fake reviews after a day or two anyway. Apparently you have been doing this a while but I have a guy that monitors this stuff for me so I don't even notice it unless he tells me. If you pick option 2, I will reach out to your ex wife in January and draw up papers free of charge to terminate your parental rights and have her new husband adopt your son. We will do a confidential name change and there would be no way of tracking down your ex the next time she moves. The entire process only takes me about 45 days. Of course, with option 2 I recognize I will have to continue to deal with the fake reviews (at least my SEO guy will) so it is not my preferred option. It seems like the nuclear option for both of us.

Still, I have hired two new associate attorneys and another paralegal since July (which is when my SEO guy said you started doing this). So while it is annoying, it is not such a big problem to deal with the ongoing reviews.

However, the annoyance is simply not worth it for me anymore. If you choose option 1, you can claim victory here. I will withdraw as counsel and surrender. Let me know and I will submit my withdrawal first thing when I get back from my Christmas vacation.

No matter what you choose, know that I bear no hard feelings toward you. Regardless of the option you choose, I forgive both what you have done and will do because I know a parent's love can make us do crazy things.

Thanks,
Brad
